Just another awesome week at Seaman School! Ask your children about the photos you find them in when clicking the link below. To avoid one word responses about school, ask your child what they learned in school today not how was school. Prompt them to tell you about their day. Use "Tell me more." Besides in the classroom, our students have so many learning experiences outside of the classroom. Most of our special area teachers post on Twitter regularly. Those photos, even if you don't see your child, should spark conversation.

We are looking forward to our Fourth and Fifth Grade Winter Concert on Tuesday at 7:00pm. Our students have been working hard to prepare. As always, it will be a special evening. All concert-goers must be seated in a chair. For everyone's safety, siblings will not be permitted to sit on the floor.

Reminder - we are doing some theme-days this week. Wednesday is Ugly Sweater Day, Thursday is Pajama Day, and Friday is a Seaman Spirit Day. Happy holidays!

Ivy
